

Global Reporting

during European Development Days

The European Development Days (EDD) takes place in Stockholm 22–24 of October. During EDD Global Reporting will take part in a number of activities.

Thursday 22nd 14.45 in A3

How can civil society and communication strengthen transparency and accountability?

Transparency and accountability in development are a key focus of EDD 2009. But how can this be achieved? This session looks for answers.

How can we find systems and means to make development more accountable to the citizens both in developing and developed countries? The central theme of this event is to explore how communication can be used as a tool to strengthen transparency and accountability in donor-financed programmes, as well as in the management of revenues from the extractive industries in Africa.

The event is organised in cooperation with BearingPoint and Revenue Watch.

Stand at the Swedish pavilion

Global Reporting will have a stand at the Swedish pavilion. You are welcome to contact us there and learn more about how we use communication as a tool for transparency and accountability. You will also find representatives from BearingPoint at the stand, which is situated close to the stage.

“The Visible hand”

Result based tools for increased transparency and accountability.

Together with BearingPoint Global Reporting has developed “The Visible Hand”, a comprehensive model that combines development theories and communication tools with management concepts from the business sector. The aim is to stimulate a debate and present a new approach to development cooperation management.
